

You are a rebel. Admit it! You refuse to read the directions when assembling a new item.

You won't ask for directions when your lost.

Once in a while you drive in the carpool lane with only you in the car!

Your neighbors call you a crack pot. And you can count your real friends on one hand.

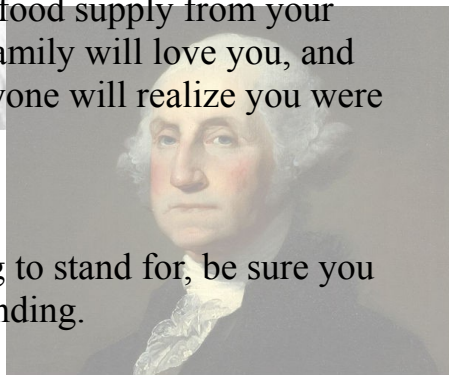

Well, join the club. Einstein failed math, quit school, and his rebel ideas lead to some of the world's most amazing discoveries.

Edison rebelled against the dark, failed over 1,000 times, then invented the light bulb.

George Washington rebelled against an entire country and lead the creation of a new one.

So go ahead, be a rebel. Put in a food supply from your EfoodsDirect Distributor. Your family will love you, and like many rebels in history, everyone will realize you were not a nut case afterall.

If you're going to pick something to stand for, be sure you have enough food to keep on standing.

For over 27 years eFoodsDirect has been helping families get the food supplies they need.
